OPENING ART RECEPTION!

“Sweet Street” by Kathi Flood

NCJW|LA Council House will be hosting the first art exhibition of the year with artist Kathi Flood. Kathi Flood narrates her urban life in the City of Los Angeles through her artwork. In this series she will be showcasing her most vigilant observations and responses to the way people treat each other in every day society.

The artist takes subjects such as telemarketing, surveillance, relationships and communication, fashion, the evolution of media, politics, the complexity of modern life, excessive materialism, psychotherapy, art marketing, consumerism and brings these subjects to the fore front of her artwork, in hopes that it will trigger sentiments that society can find relatable and to create an open space where these conversations can be heard.

“I want to encourage everyone to tell their stories, to soften the frustration and isolation that we feel in these messy, complex times, and to infuse a poetic trance back into this impatient world.”- Kathi Flood

Date of Art Exhibition “Sweet Street” - Sunday, February 24, 2019 1:00pm - 3:00pm

Location | Council House, 543 N. Fairfax Avenue, Los Angeles, CA 90036
